

EFOSA OJOMO

Affiliation: Leads the Global Prosperity research group at the Clayton Christensen Institute for Disruptive Innovation; and the Global Prosperity Group and Forum for Growth at Harvard Business School.

Ideas: Helping to figure out how entrepreneurs and innovators create inclusive economic prosperity. How can business tap into unrealized sources of growth and prosperity – all while making the world a better place.

Content: Co-author The Prosperity Paradox: How Innovation Can Lift Nations Out of Poverty (HarperBusiness, 2019). Ojomo's TED talk, 'Reducing Corruption Takes a Specific Kind of Investment' has more than 1.4 million views and has been translated into 13 languages.

Bio: Graduated from Vanderbilt University with a degree in computer engineering and has an MBA from HBS.

Verdict: "Champion of inclusive prosperity." Thinkers50

Website: efosaojomo.com

Social: @efosaojomo